An aerial photograph of a ferry boat docked at a pier. The ferry is white with blue accents and has a large bus on its deck. The bus is dark-colored with "HAGA BUSSREISER" written on its side. Several people are visible on the deck of the ferry and on the pier. The water is dark blue with white foam from the ferry's wake. The pier is made of concrete and has a small white boat docked nearby. In the background, there are buildings and more piers.

Why live in the Setesdal region?

Setesdal interkommunalt
politisk råd

The Setesdal region in Southern Norway is defined by its striking landscapes of mountains, valleys, lakes and forests. The river Otra flows through the valley and into the sea in Kristiansand. With communities like Bygland, Valle, Bykle, Evje og Hornnes and Åseral, the region offers a high quality of life grounded in strong community values and easy access to nature. Known for its cultural traditions, where the Setesdal tradition of song games and dance has been included on UNESCO's representative list of the world's intangible cultural heritage, outdoor activities and emerging industries, Setesdal provides a balanced environment for living and working.
